

S P R I N G 2 0 1 5

Digital Human Library

~ bring the field trip into your classroom ~

What's New?

Since September 2014 the Digital Human Library has welcomed Maryland Historical Society, Forests Ontario, Wildlife Rehabilitation expert Margaret Black, the Royal Ontario Museum, and the Ontario Federation of Agriculture. Our newest eBook experts join hundreds of eBooks in all subject areas that are waiting to connect with you!

How do your students connect with the world?

The Digital Human Library (dHL) is a free educational resource that connects Canadian teachers and students with hundreds of organizations and experts from all over the world who are offering interactive curriculum-based programs using video conferencing technology.

As March Break quickly approaches, I hope you will consider integrating video conferencing into your classroom program to engage students, work with global learning partners, and further student inquiry. Amplify your classroom program! Why not try something new?

Coming Soon!

- Bank of Montreal
- Salthaven Wildlife Rehabilitation and Education Centre

Are you new to video conferencing? It's as easy as clicking on a link or downloading some free software.

Your registration is your library card! Register once, and then log in to gain access to the full library of eBook experts for free.

Connect using free video conferencing platforms like Skype, Adobe, Google+ . . .

Register with the Digital Human Library today and start connecting with eBook experts this Spring!
digitalhumanlibrary.com

Spring 2015

Be sure to check out the variety of resources for your classroom as well – like multi-media Virtual Tours and Tips for Teachers to get the most from your Digital Human Library experience.

Why the dHL?

Support student inquiry with access to hundreds of eBook experts in all areas of the curriculum. Offer your students the opportunity to learn something new by introducing them to new people, places, and experiences. Create opportunities for your students to build relationships with a variety of global learning partners. Provide your students with a better understanding of their learning as it applies in the world beyond the school, while also helping them develop the interpersonal skills they need to be successful as next generation learners.

Get Inspired!

Visit with Fox 4 Meteorologists and learn about systems, cycles and storms. Explore Habitats of the Gulf of Mexico presented by the Texas State Aquarium. Want to take a class trip to the North Carolina Zoo? Or chat with an award-winning Children's Author? How about visiting the Art Gallery of Ontario or ROM for an art history lesson? Why not build Scribblebots with the Forth Worth Museum of Science and History to learn the scientific concepts of electricity, force and motion with a wildly creative outcome? Are you a high school science or math teacher? Connect with Virtual Researchers on Call (VROC) and study with STEM experts from Canadian universities. Or be inspired to make a difference in the world by collaborating with the Centre for Global Education and work with students and experts around the world on projects that explore global issues and the potential youth have to shape a better common future. All of these exciting new opportunities for learning and more are just an email away.

Visit digitalhumanlibrary.com today!