Our new multilingual website reflects our commitment to making authentic learning experiences accessible to more educators and learners around the world. Whether you're exploring virtual tours, connecting with experts, or discovering new opportunities, dHL is now easier to access than ever before.

The Next Chapter in Our Story

Something exciting is on the horizon. As we look to the future, we're preparing to turn the page toward a new chapter: WorldJourney Learning. While our mission remains the same, our evolving brand reflects the global learning journeys we're creating together. Turn the page to read more...

A New Chapter In Our Story

Every library holds countless stories. For more than a decade, the Digital Human Library has helped students discover stories from around the world through meaningful connections with the people who live them. As our own story evolves, we're preparing to turn the page toward a new chapter.

As our work grows and new technologies expand what's possible for teaching and learning, we've been reflecting on an important question: How do we best represent the global learning journey we're creating together?

While there's no official launch date to share just yet, we're excited to offer an early glimpse into the future.

In the coming months, you'll hear more about WorldJourney Learning, a new brand that reflects both where we've been and where we're headed. The name captures something we've always believed: learning is a journey, and every student deserves opportunities to explore the world, build meaningful connections, and discover new perspectives.

What isn't changing is just as important. Our commitment to equitable access, human connection, global citizenship, and meaningful learning remains at the heart of everything we do.

Digital Human Library has always been about opening doors to new ideas, experiences, and perspectives. WorldJourney Learning represents an evolution of our story, not a departure from it.

We're grateful to everyone who has been part of our story so far and look forward to writing the next chapter together. Stay tuned!
